- Take sunscreen, sunglasses and a wide-brimmed hat for protection from harmful UV rays. A long-sleeved shirt or other cover-up may also be a good addition to your gear.
- Bring plenty of water to prevent dehydration.
- Swim only in the designated swimming areas, never swim too far from the shore, and always use the buddy system.
- Ask our 'Water Sports' team for recommendations.
- If possible, check the weather and wave conditions before you go and be alert for changing conditions.
- A life-jacket, or personal flotation device (PFD), is the single most important piece of safety equipment for anyone using a boat, and we recommend that you wear it for most watersport activities.
- The 'Watersports Liability Waiver' form is mandatory for some watersports.
